AGENDA

Clarification made regarding documents for Rick to sign off on,

I. Iteration 2 System Demonstration Feedback

- Edit user + Login + Add New Users
 - Super Admin - when editing users password, Rick wants to be able to see the password when creating a new password or new user. After this, if logging back in again the password is hashed instead and doesn't display. Rick is okay with this as long as he is able to view the passwords that he is providing his staff
 - For the general user should be allowed to view their password when logging in.
- Forgot Password
 - As long as the super admin can view the employees password information and the super admin can override this then any employee can change their password. If its possible to change, to adjust this. If Rick's employee is placing an order at minding/he is overseas he doesn't want to hinder their ability to create an order

- Create a New Order
 - Scanning or by putting in a stock number? Currently we are only scanning
 - 25% discount when it is bale price and this price can vary for each doormat style (4, 2, etc.)
 - Ask to show the individual price. It still shows the subtotal price. Would be good if it can show the individual price?
 - What additional information would Rick prefer?
 - Display what the price should show to, instead of seeing the price show the discounted price instead.
 - Requested that the sales person could enter in the item number instead of scanning the barcode.
 - Stock Number - Rick wants to be able to see stock on hand in our system (in stock or not) so the sales person can tell the client immediately if there is enough stock
 - If there is 0 stock this means this is deleted. Start with numbers beginning with 23. All doormats starting with 23 will be the currently in stock (23 being the prefix of the item numbers)
 - James' comments
 - Displaying stock on hand - after item number show how many are in stock.
 - Stock incoming? - should be able to view this as well. This would be good as the customers could place an order for it. This should be in the backorder. Rick stated we should make a separate comment for backorders.

II. Questions regarding MYOB Formatting

- Rick & his staff use androids. Advised that we will showcase this at a later date.

III. Technical Advice for Web Hosting

- Hosting with hostgator

- cPanel access just as the one on Monash. Same as what we are using currently.
- Will be provided login credentials once this is setup. Would be preferred to receive as soon as possible
- Hosted by the 5th of October. Hosting earlier means Rick can test it himself earlier.
- Rick requested that sales consultants can be restricted to area based only. Advised these can be added in later if MYOB works first and with is hosted with Rick's system.
- Hosting would take around $10 per month. Rick has agreed and James will setup the hosting today and will send us credentials

III. Future Signing off on Documentation

- If Rick is unavailable, Rick has confirmed that documentation can be confirmed with James to sign off instead.

NEXT MEETING'S AGENDA

- Showcase of Final Product incl. Recommended fixes
